Long Fight Ahead On Ellenville Voters St. Lawrence Seaway Will Decide Issue Treaty With Canada Of New Grade Building

Agreement Signed Last Year Has An Army of Friends and Foes—Two-Thirds Majority Will Be Necessary to Ratify.

Washington, Dec. 1 (P).—Maneuvering for one of the liveliest treaty battles in Senate history is taking most of the time of advocates and opponents of the Roosevelt-favored St. Lawrence seaway pact with Canada.

Proposed to lessen transportation costs to a vast area in the interior of the United States, the agreement signed last year has an army of friends and foes.

If the pact ever gets right of way from the monetary, NRA and liquor taxes debaters, leaders see a long fight ahead despite President Roosevelt's strong stand for ratification. A two-thirds majority will be necessary to ratify.

Senate proponents of the treaty contend if it ever reaches a vote—and there are some, notably Huey P. Long, who are ready to stand indefinitely against it—it will be approved. The opposition disagrees.

Long, of Louisiana, and several other Democratic senators in the Great Lakes-to-Gulf area fight the treaty on the ground it would divert both commerce and water from the Lakes-to-Gulf Commercial Seaway.

Senator Clark (D-Mo.), only this week, speaking before the Mississippi Valley Association, said it would "grant a subsidy running into hundreds of millions for the relief of the Canadian depression."

Senators La Follette (R-Wis.) and Vandenberg (R-Mich.), have been recent speakers in the treaty's behalf.

It was La Follette that President Roosevelt wrote a letter last July terminating the treaty "an essential part" of his public works program.

The president also asked approval of the house resolution to grant New York state all of America's 50 per cent share in the 2,200,000 horsepower proposed to be developed in the international sections of the waterway.

The house adopted this resolution, but it got no further.

The treaty itself has already been approved by the senate foreign relations committee and is now on the executive calendar.

It proposes a seaway with a 27-foot depth channel from the foot of Lake Ontario to tidewater at Montreal. The cost to Canada would be $270,976,000 and to the United States $272,453,000, including $39,000,000 to be paid by New York for the power.

Each country would receive credit for expenditures already made.

The Dominion would be allowed credit for construction of the new Welland Canal, involving an expenditure of $128,000,000. The net cost to the United States has been estimated at $125,000,000, not counting New York's share.

In fact, nearly all the opposition comes from members of Mr. Roosevelt's own party.

TEN MILLION TONS COAL PURCHASED FOR THE NEEDY.

Washington, Dec. 1 (P).—Ten million tons of coal are to be purchased by the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation for needy unemployed. It was estimated New York state would use 450,000 tons.

Harry L. Hopkins, president of the corporation, said today that 1,000,000 tons of bituminous coal and 2,000,000 tons of anthracite will be used.

The anthracite institute has agreed, Hopkins said, to a reduction of 70 cents a ton and the bituminous operators have agreed to a ten per cent discount from the NRA code price.

Local relief administrations, Hopkins said, will arrange with local dealers to supply the coal from existing stocks.

Treasury Receipts.

Washington, Dec. 1 (P).—The position of the treasury on November 28 was: Receipts $11,225,881.21; expenditures $27,482,069.57; balance $1,106,828,061.54; customs receipts for the month $26,006,322.03; receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1) $1,121,947,131.67; expenditures $1,901,726,312.38; including $689,657,665.85 for emergency relief; excess of expenditures $769,783,150.71.

Accident Victim Is At Kingston Hospital

Catskill Resident Receives Deep Cuts and Lacerations as Result of Crash Last Night Near Saugerties

Artes Hallinan of Catskill is at the Kingston Hospital, where he is under treatment by Dr. Joseph Jacobsen for an extremely deep cut, extending partly through the neck, a portion of the scalp, nearly two inches in diameter, torn off and cut across the face and body. He was brought to the hospital Thursday night following an automobile accident above Saugerties. Three others who were with him in the car when it left the road were brought to the hospital, but were discharged after treatment by Dr. Jacobsen.

They were Sylvester Hightower, incarnation of the right ear; Orde Hagan, cut over left eye; Nathaniel Taylor, possible fracture of the right arm; All are residents of Catskill.

Proposition Calls for Appropriation of $100,000—Balancing Schedule for December 28—Will Raise $78,750 by Tax Upon District.

The Board of Education of the Ellenville Schools is submitting to the voters of the district a proposition to appropriate $105,000 for additional school facilities. A meeting of the voters to decide the question will be held on December 22. The proposition is to raise $78,750 by tax upon the district, the balance to be made up by a grant from federal funds, the government to take the bonds at 4 per cent interest. In case it is not possible to secure federal aid the call for the meeting provides that the authorization shall be null and void.

The plan provides for the erection of a ten-unit grade building at the rear of the present high school building, a combined gymnasium and auditorium at the rear of the grade building and alterations to the present high school building.

The report was prepared by Hugo R. Jackson, under the joint auspices of the conference of mayors and Syracuse University. Its chief recommendations are:

(1) That city welfare departments outline more clearly the duties of every member of their staffs and define more accurately the responsibility of each staff member.

(2) That welfare clients be interviewed by trained social workers rather than by a clerical staff.

(3) That investigators be more thoroughly trained and be given smaller case loads so they would have more time for individual clients.

(4) That uniformity of food prices and a reduction from regular retail quotations be obtained in every city by welfare agencies for their clients.

(5) That rent allowances be determined only after a careful survey of the local housing situation.

(6) That in some cases welfare funds can legitimately be given to clients for payments on interest, mortgage or taxes in lieu of rent in the event the clients own their own homes.

(7) That clients make a more effective use of life insurance policies in obtaining funds instead of depending wholly upon welfare administrators.

"The foregoing bill of particulars," said Jackson, "indicates the fact that considerable improvement must yet be sought in local welfare administration. Despite the existence of objectional practices and procedures, however, the situation is an encouraging one. The advances made in welfare administration during the past few years by many municipalities are little short of remarkable.

"In the past it was the generally accepted practice to give relief—usually inadequate relief—without thought of careful investigation, records or social effects. This practice has been supplanted in most cities by definitely planned programs, more adequate relief allowances, and the exact determination of budget needs."

Chains, the report shows, attain their price cutting ability because they may absorb losses of one store in another which charges higher prices in a locality where there is no price competition.

"Such variations," the report says, "in the prices charged by different stores of a chain may, of course, be carried beyond the point of merely constituting an advantage to the chain-store system and become unfair method of competition in commerce."

Another part of the report shows that on the average chain store tall selling prices are lower than those of independents. The total price of 73 items in four Cincinnati chain grocers was from $14.12 to $14.36, while the independent's price was $15.37. Gross profit of the chains ranged from 21.32 per cent to 22.07 per cent, compared with 26.93 of the independents.

Chain store systems are shown to have received better discounts from manufacturers than independents or cooperatives. In 1930, in the drug trade chains 35.19 per cent was allowed, whereas wholesalers who sell to the independents, got 1.11 per cent. In the grocery trade, the chain discount was 2.02 per cent compared with .91 per cent for wholesalers. Chain stores got a five times better rate in tobacco than wholesalers.

French Convict Ship Carries Banished Men

"La Martinique" Crammed, Sails for "Dry Guillotine" of French Gulana—Gathered From All Over French Colonies.

St. Martin de Re, France, Dec. 1 (P).—The convict ship La Martinique crammed its heavily-barred cages with its second cargo of banished prisoners in two months and sailed today for the "dry guillotine" of French Gulana.

Gathered in large part from France's far-flung colonies of Africa and the Orient, the exiled convicts included Hindus, Arabs and Chinese, black men, brown and yellow mingled with Europeans of assorted nationalities convicted of crimes committed on French soil.

A man condemned to expire the slaying of a woman who had unwillingly shared his affections with another, marched to the ship with hardened criminals who killed unromantically for money.

There were 230 convicts aboard; on the way they will be joined by 400 more from Algiers.

Each convict, dressed in a new uniform of coarse gray wool and wooden shoes, carried as sole baggage a blanket in a sailor's kitbag. Their wrists were caulked. Soldiers, with bayonets fixed and rifles cocked, marched them through the prison door and across the grass-grown path—seldom trod, but always one way—known as "Gulana walk." Police held back relatives and the curios.

First, those sentenced to fixed terms at hard labor embarked, wearing knitted caps to distinguish them from the felt-hatted "refugees," whose punishment is for life and who were loaded last. From lighter they climbed a ladder to the deck of La Martinique and were led to the cage in the hold. The ladder was hoisted, the anchor lifted and the ship steamed away.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 1 (P).—A seven-point program for the improvement of public welfare administration in the cities of New York state is outlined in a study made public by the state conference of mayors.

The report was prepared by Hugo R. Jackson, under the joint auspices of the conference of mayors and Syracuse University. Its chief recommendations are:

(1) That city welfare departments outline more clearly the duties of every member of their staffs and define more accurately the responsibility of each staff member.

Later, in opening his remarks as presiding officer of the Thanksgiving affair, Mr. Roosevelt noted the acts of the magician, Julian Boehm of Atlanta and of the assistance in one act by Gus Gennrich, the Presidential bodyguard who was called on by Boehm in a card stunt.

"I suppose," said the President, "I have to have my chance at the press and so I will tell you now" that there are certain papers in the United States that you need not read tomorrow because I am going to tell you now what the headlines are going to be tomorrow morning. They are going to say that Dr. Julian Boehm is going to be appointed secretary of the treasury and that Gus Gennrich is going to head the Federal Reserve system."

Japan Anxious About Dollar Seeing It As Recovery Index, Says Aged Finance Minister

By GLENY BAKER

Tokyo (AP)—President Roosevelt's monetary policies are watched with "special anxiety" by the people of Japan, Korekiyo Takahashi, the 79-year-old finance minister and former premier, said here in a strong plea for early stabilization of world currencies.

Toward the gigantic effort of the NRA the attitude of Japan is one of mingled hope and fear, Mr. Takahashi continued—hope that it will revive American purchasing power and thereby restore Japan's rich export market, and fear lest tariffs imposed to safeguard American industry operating under codes, will curtail the booming expansion of Japanese trade.

Calis Badger World Way.
Without waiting for the interviewer to broach the subject, Mr. Takahashi opened comment on the gyrations of the dollar. He spoke vigorously and incisively, using Japanese for the most part, but breaking into clear-cut English when the interpreter failed to drive home a point.

"The first requisite for improvement of world trade is stabilization of exchange rates," Mr. Takahashi said. "For this reason we in Japan are watching with especial anxiety the monetary experiments conducted by President Roosevelt."

"Stabilization of the dollar would contribute more than any other single factor to dissipation of the present chaos and uncertainty in the world trade situation."

"Until exchanges are stabilized all trade is speculative. This evil must be eliminated. It enters into the industrial life of each nation, into the political decisions of governments. Thus it directly affects the welfare of the common people of every nation."

Regrets Tariff Walls.

"The remedy for this situation lies primarily within the power of the American government; to a less extent it depends on the governments of Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy."

"The economic recovery of Japan is closely linked with the NRA, and the outlook for early enforcement of its provisions for tariff barriers against imports threatening American industries under its codes. We are waiting to see how far this will exclude Japanese manufacturers."

"It is a regrettable feature of our present foreign trade boom that it is producing a tendency throughout the world to raise walls against Japanese goods. For this reason we can not be optimistic over the outcome."

Dangerous Talk

Chicago—There's nothing very dangerous about a little gossip over the phone but it almost killed Mrs. Margaret Rommell today.

Mrs. Rommell was cooking dinner when the telephone rang. She ran to answer it and had a long conversation with a friend—almost too long.

In her haste to reach the phone, she left a gas burner open. Neighbors found her and revived her.

Reason To Celebrate

Minneapolis—Celebration of two golden wedding anniversaries in which the husbands were brothers and the wives sisters gave Minneapolis one of its largest family gatherings. It was a half century ago that Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Blackburn, Minneapolis, and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Blackburn, St. Paul, took their marriage vows in El Dorado, Wis.

Chicago—Virtually no crime in Chicago was cause enough for Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker to be thankful.

He was able to eat his Thanksgiving dinner in perfect peace, the only crime reported between Wednesday midnight and late Thursday afternoon being a minor holdup.

Congratulations

Uniontown, Pa.—William Byers, 55, and his bride didn't mind the "serenade" because they knew that a noisy greeting from the boys of the community was an inevitable consequence of marriage.

They withstood the tin-pans band, the tossing of junk into the front yard and the general noise making that goes with a "serenade" for a newly-wed couple.

But the lads skunked the "serenaders" tossed into the house—well, that was a different matter, and even youths must face disorderly conduct charges.

It is being staged for the Christmas festival of St. Joseph's parish.

Denver—Frank Romeo took three slashes with an axe—one at a turkey's neck, the second at a slate of kindling wood with which he wanted to start a fire to cook the gobbler, and the third at the same piece of wood. The first two were bull's eyes but the third missed and Frank lost a toe and missed his Thanksgiving dinner. He spent the day in a hospital.

Young Knapp shot himself through the heart with a .25 caliber revolver in the presence of a frantic brother early yesterday.

"I'm going to kill myself," he said as he rushed into his room at the Sigma Phi House where Robert T. Shread was in bed. He died before save could stop him.

Authorities said Knapp had attended a dance the night before and had just returned from escorting a young woman friend to her home. Knapp attended school at Watertown, where he was widely known as an athlete. He was born in Vancouver, B. C., and was a grandson of Colonel Martin S. Sackett of Miami, Fla., former United States consul at Prescott, and a nephew of Major Edward Holland, first Canadian to receive the Victoria Cross.

THE UNDERTAKER.

In the magazine section of the Los Angeles Times, Fred C. Christopher, a member of the editorial staff of the Sioux Falls, S. D., Argus Leader, writes on the plight of South Dakota's noble experiment in socialism, under the apt title of "Another Job For the Undertaker."

That undertaker, when he gets around to burying the economic corpses, will be in for a busy time, and the people of South Dakota will stand the bill for some very expensive funerals. Back in the days of the Non-Partisan League the state started experimenting on an unprecedented scale. It created a state crop-hail insurance department, which was liquidated in 1933. It established a state bonding department, which ran merrily from 1919 to 1933. It guaranteed bank deposits from 1915 until 1927. It established a state cement plant, which is still running—the last sad remnant of the economic jags. It had a state-owned coal mine, which went to Valhalla in 1929. And, finally, from 1917 to 1925 it played with a state rural credit department.

The various experiments created deficits to the tune of $75,000,000. The bank deposit law, for example, cost the taxpayers $35,000,000. The rural credit system used up red ink to the extent of $38,000,000. The coal mine swallowed the modest sum of $185,000, and the loss to date on the cement plant is $300,000. And so it went—from bad to worse.

On paper, as Mr. Christopher said, the socialist program was a honey. There wasn't a hole in it. South Dakota was about to be Utopia on earth. When it came to actual performance, the other side of the medal was seen. Politics ran rampant. There was plenty of money, and the taxpayers could be taken for more. And today few commonwealths are sadder, wiser or so tax-ridden as South Dakota. Those who would have other states adopt similar programs might take a look into the Northwest, read the figures, and do a little thinking.

TWO CHANCES TO HELP.

There are two things which ought to have a place on many Christmas shopping lists. They are the American Red Cross Roll Call and the anti-tuberculosis Christmas Seals.

The Red Cross, organized for war work, has found tremendous field for service in peace time, both in responding to sudden disasters like floods or fires or earthquakes, and in meeting some of the more acute needs of prolonged depression which other agencies could not take care of. During the past year the Red Cross gave relief to many in need because of unemployment, disaster and related causes in every state, in practically every county, of the United States. The citizen who answers the roll call with his dollar now helps to keep this service going.

Christmas Seals provide a fund which is used year in and year out in combating tuberculosis. The steady campaign of education, preventive work and so on, has achieved considerable success. If the health forces are not to lose ground because of the depression, their work must be even more generously supported now.

VALUE OF BANK INSURANCE

"We conclude," says the chairman of a bankers' commission that has been studying the American banking situation, "that the way to assure bank depositors of true safety lies in improving the banking system that losses to depositors cannot occur, rather than adopting some plan of spreading the losses after they have occurred." The commission's report is opposed to the permanent deposit insurance plan to go into effect next July, after six months of the preliminary plan. The principle suggested is doubtless sound in theory. The practical difficulty, after recent experience, is that it will probably take several years of sound banking methods, with an unexpected scarcity of bank failures, to persuade the depositing public that American banks are safe.

The government backing provided by R. F. C. investments in bank stock will help to reassure the public. The insurance feature so many bankers dislike will help still more. The bankers may probably be surprised by the money poured into them next January, when insurance starts. Such an insurance plan has never been tried on a large enough scale to be effective. Once installed, on the national scale now planned, it is likely to remain until the public has had a chance to forget recent banking history.

The recent elections in this country can hardly be said to have any deep social or political meaning. National issues and figures did thrust through local situations here and there, but not enough to show any very pronounced change. The most significant result, perhaps, was in New York city, where victory of the Fusion party is explained by a popular interpreter as caused by the revolt of small taxpayers. There has been an uprising, there, he says, of the "average man against bad government. In many other cities and states this same attitude is reflected. There are no deep, strong social movements evident, such as we see in Europe. The "farm rebellion" lacks unity and may dissolve under direct government aid. We are a long-suffering and good-natured people. For the present, mostly, we merely voice against heavy taxes and lack of jobs, or those we hold responsible for them. But if general conditions are not better by next fall, there will be political and social hurricanes.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY James W. Barton, M.D.

Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
FAD DIETS.

You may have a friend who has had considerable trouble with his digestion. He decides that he has been eating too much rough food and so goes on a fluid or soft diet—milk, raw eggs, and orange juice, and the juices of various vegetables.

He begins to feel better and immediately proclaims to everybody that he has found the ideal diet and would like to put his family and everybody else on his diet.

You may have another friend who likewise has been having difficulty with his stomach and intestine, due most likely to constipation, because constipation can cause trouble anywhere along the food tract, right up to the throat itself. He decides to eat raw fruits, raw vegetables and whole wheat bread. He also finds that he is losing his tired feeling, has more life and energy, and is not anxious to sleep all the time.

He also feels that he has discovered a remedy for all the ills of the body, and would like his family and the world in general to follow his special diet.

Still another individual will go on a milk diet entirely for a time, perhaps adding a little orange juice to supply Vitamin C.

And, of course, there has recently been resurrected the diet where starches—potatoes, bread, sugar—are eaten at one meal, and meats, eggs and fats at another; never starches and meats and eggs at the same meal.

Now what about all these "fad" diets?

As a matter of fact, they are not really fad diets to those who use them or may need them for the time being. It is possible that if many individuals did without food for a whole day once a week, they would feel all the better for it.

But fad diets and fasting should not be indulged in if you are in good health because Nature meant that you should be able to eat all the good foods—starches, proteins—meats, cereals, eggs—and fats—fat meat, cream, butter—at the same time.

However, if you are not in good health there is no question but that you may be able, with your doctor's help, to work out a diet that will help your particular condition; and it may be that one of the above diets may be the right one.

But don't fool with fad diets if you are well.

FORBIDDEN VALLEY

By William Byron Flannery

SHORTLY after the floodwaters receded, the Indians of the Klososhee tribe were preparing for their Marches. In the darkness of night, the Indians heard voices from the hills. A Klososhee girl known as Soya Shikoh, who is determined to prove once and for all that she is a woman, and not a tomboy, offers her services to the Indians. She is informed by Curt, leader of the party, that she could feel safe, and if anybody could get on good terms with the Klososhee, he was the man to do it.

"If the idea doesn't appeal to you," he said, "please don't be sensitive about saying so. You might let me break into one of your plans."

"Oh, but it does appeal to me!"

"You like it, don't you?" Soya asked. In Curt's tones and his manner she could see that he was interested in her. On a lengthy wilderness trip together where they would be thrown into constant intimate association, he might come to like her a very great deal. It wouldn't be right to allow that.

"But you'll be travelling so much faster than we," she objected.

"Oh, no; we'll be taking it leisurely scouting for food as we go. To be frank, I don't believe you and Ralph are used to water-dogging on a mountain river. Till you get on to the hang of things it mightn't be a bad idea to have a couple of experienced people along. Also, if those guides don't prove dependable, you wouldn't be left in the lurch."

"Your offer is magnanimous, Curt." She stumbled just a little over his first name. "I don't know anybody else who'd have made it. But we'd be a positive nuisance."

"Your company and Ralph's would be a real pleasure to us both. Talk it over with him, won't you?"

Still wavering, Soya looked down into the torrent, where a number of tiny trout were darting about in a pool-like little flashes of sunshine. She knew that the safe unselfish thing was to refuse. But then she thought that if she steered their association carefully she could guide it into a comradely friendship. And she did need his help so badly. With her it might make all the difference between success and abject failure.

"We might—we could try it," she assented finally. "At least we can start out together, and if it doesn't work we can always split up."

As they went on filling the pail Curt congratulated himself on having nearly solved a tough problem. He would be going up the Lilliar on his own business, and at the same time Paul and he could look after Soya's safety.

And he would have her company for a week, a week of wilderness travel with her. At the pass, when she and Ralph came face to face with the Klososhee danger and realized how serious it was, they would undoubtedly turn back to Russian Lake. That would free him and Paul, to go on inside and pull Karakhan.

They were a welcome surprise, out of the fog. For several reasons she was never gladder to see people than those two. But what were they doing up the Lilliar? They hadn't mentioned that they intended to come north from Russian Lake.

Through a screen of boughs she watched them a minute. They did not wake Ralph or the guides. Curt pointed at her breakfast keeping warm in the ashes, and looked around for her, evidently knowing she was up.

She stepped out to the timber edge. Curt saw her there and came up along the torrent.

"You're awake early," he greeted with his likable smile.

He was causal enough, as though just meeting some chance acquaintance; but Soya saw the man's tribute to her in his eyes and noticed how his glance clung to her face and hair. She felt sure he had not come upon her camp by accident but with some definite purpose.

"I couldn't sleep with a morning like this just outside the tent," she answered.

"Your breakfast looked so good that Paul and I almost grabbed it and broke for the woods."

"You will stay and have breakfast with us, won't you?"

"If you'll let me give you a hand with that berry-picking."

"All right."

He took up her bucket, and they went back along the torrent to the pail.

"I didn't know Paul and you were intending to come up this way," she remarked, bending down a tall briar.

He answered her unspoken question. "We're prospecting up the Lilliar."

SONTA did not know whether to believe him or not. Ever since meeting him she had been trying to figure him out. He certainly didn't appear to be a prospector. He was miles above the type.

Except for her father, she had never met a man whose quiet efficient power impressed her as much as his.

She hated to think that he was just a drifter, leading a carefree existence.

That was all right for the men at Russian Lake, but he had undoubtedly turned his back on society.

In his way LeNoir was altogether loyal to Karakhan, who had been very generous to him in the matter of money. The "breed" had a code, such as it was. He had bargained to protect the Cossack, and he was giving everything he had to that job, for he was hard-set in his loyalties as in his funds.

"Paul and I are going up as far as the pass," he volunteered presently. And then he came out with the purpose of his visit. "If there's no objection on the east side of the fence, our parties could sort of be neighbors. In this country people usually throw in together that way."

STROKES OF GENIUS

by SAMUEL WEBB
& ALFRED PARKER

I took Edwin Markham ten years to shape "The Man With The Hoe" into its final form! Inspired by Millet's painting, Markham made the bowed, broken French peasant a symbol of the poverty-stricken toiler in all lands. The poem is a challenge against the suppression of the laborer, whose spirit the poet has caught in the opening lines:

Bowed by the weight of centuries he toils
Upon his hoe and gazes on the ground—

The poem first appeared in the San Francisco Examiner of January 15, 1899, and was an instantaneous success, being reprinted in nearly every newspaper in the country.

Markham grew up in a lonely but beautiful valley in California. Here he learned farming and blacksmithing, and was frequently thrown among horse-thieves and bandits. After educating himself, he was appointed school teacher in a small community, but lacking a school house, conducted his classes in the open, under a wide spreading oak. In 1901, nationally famous by reason of "The Man With The Hoe," Markham came east to lecture and live in New York.

The estate was appraised today at $92,400 gross value and $86,265 net. The widow is administrator.

FIRST CHANGE IN 24 YEARS IN MOST FAMOUS CRACKERS.

Virtually unchanged since it was first introduced to the public 34 years ago, Uneeda Biscuit, a familiar sight on grocery shelves throughout the United States, and one of the best known food products in the world, will hereafter appear as a salted cracker as well as in its customary unsalted form, according to a National Biscuit Company announcement.

The reason for this change is the increasing demand for Uneeda Biscuit in salted as well as unsalted form. Except for the sprinkling of salt placed upon it in the baking process, the salted Uneeda Biscuit will be exactly the same as the familiar unsalted ones. Even the package will be the same except for the word "salted" on the front.

In announcing the new development in their famous cracker, National Biscuit Company officials recalled the history of Uneeda. The company was formed in 1898 as a result of the amalgamation of several bakeries in various parts of the country. Up to that time crackers and biscuits had been distributed chiefly in loose form from barrels and boxes. The package idea had only just been advanced in retail merchandising, and modern advertising was an infant, but by no means the prodigy it later proved to be.

From among hundreds suggested, "Uneeda Biscuit" was selected as the name, and the red inner seal was adopted for each end of the novel package.

American's Greatest Battle
Over 1,200,000 American troops took part in the Meuse-Argonne offensive, which lasted from September 26 to November 11, 1918. This battle has been described as an official government account as the greatest ever fought by American troops and as ranking with the greatest battles in the history of the world. Statistics show that the battle lasted 47 days, employing in the American attack 1,200,000 men, 2,417 guns, 4,214,000 rounds of ammunition, 840 airplanes, 224 tanks. One hundred fifty villages and towns were liberated, 16,000 prisoners taken, 48 artillery pieces and 2,864 machine guns were captured. The American casualties were 120,000.

Parent-Teacher Associations

No. 8 P.T. A. Play.

The first report from the children selling tickets for the play, "The Heart Exchange," to be given Wednesday evening, December 6, in Worth Hall, Clinton Avenue, is most gratifying as is the response made to the list of patrons.

The patron list includes the following: Fred Schramme, Abe Reiley, Flanagan, Archer & Watkins, Winter's music store, Mrs. Arthur Hazebrash, Mrs. Clarence Schoonmaker, Mrs. Jason Carle, Mrs. Harry Old P. King, Mrs. Frederic Holcomb, Mrs. William Bell, Mrs. Frederick Snyder, Mrs. Chester Belts, Mrs. Henry Frost, Livingston and Lee Ferre.

The play is humorous from start to finish and well worth the time spent in attending it. The No. 8 unit is especially proud of the cast for the play, which includes three teachers, Miss Lillian Gallagher, as Aunt Thomasina; Miss Marian Zimmerman as Martha Kellogg; Miss Winifred Nash as Louisa Millard. The following mothers: Mrs. Warren Smith as Daisy Meadows; Mrs. Charles Burger as Harriet Ockett; and the following fathers: Scott M. Carle as Emerson Decker Hartley; Ray Bole as Socker Quigley; Warren Smith as George Walters; and three friends of the Parent-Teacher group, who are assisting the production: Ray Parsells as Ralph Dartmore; Mrs. Ray Parsells as Arthur Princeton and George Parsells as Matilda Gozzensloker.

American's Greatest Battle
Over 1,200,000 American troops took part in the Meuse-Argonne offensive, which lasted from September 26 to November 11, 1918. This battle has been described as an official government account as the greatest ever fought by American troops and as ranking with the greatest battles in the history of the world. Statistics show that the battle lasted 47 days, employing in the American attack 1,200,000 men, 2,417 guns, 4,214,000 rounds of ammunition, 840 airplanes, 224 tanks. One hundred fifty villages and towns were liberated, 16,000 prisoners taken, 48 artillery pieces and 2,864 machine guns were captured. The American casualties were 120,000.

BELGIANS FORTIFY EAST BORDERS DESPITE EXPENSE

Brussels (AP)—Despite economic difficulties, the Belgian government is to seek legislative approval for spending nearly $20,000,000 for fortification of the eastern frontier.

Already voted by the council of ministers, headed by the king, the money is sought for a formidable defense of the entire 80-mile border.

Plans have been made to use the credit for speeding up completion of modern concrete fortifications along the whole line, for powerful artillery, and for anti-aircraft defenses.

The new defense line, stretching closely along the German frontier north of Liege, has been planned so that the whole Belgian army may be opposed to any aggressor from the east.

Meanwhile, work is proceeding on a new fort at Eben-Emael. It will defend the Lower Maas and the approaches to the new strategic waterway, the Albert canal.

Russia Reported Massing Troops Over Rail Dispute

Harbin, Manchuria (AP)—Reports to Japanese military agencies here assert that the Soviet Union is concentrating 60,000 picked soldiers along the Siberian-Manchurian border as precaution against any attempt of Manchukuan officials to oust the Russians from joint control of the Chinese Eastern railway.

The same sources are pessimistic about negotiations for sale of the Soviet interests in the road which have been basking in Tokyo. They point out that Moscow wants $200,000,000 gold for its share of the line while Manchukuo is offering only $55,000,000.

The Soviet forces are said to have been designated "the special far eastern army" and to be under command of General Blucher, who, under the name of "General Galens," became widely known for his work in assisting Chiang Kai-Shek to establish the present Nanking regime in China.

Said To Be Well-Equipped

The reports further assert that the red army is equipped with tanks, both large and small, with scout and bombing planes, heavy and light artillery, and chemical weapons.

Three principal air bases are listed at Vladivostok, Nikol'sk and Spassk. Additional airfields are said to be located along the Amur river.

The Japanese agents claim also that the Soviet union has been withdrawing the peasant population from frontier towns and villages, moving them westward toward China and replacing them with trained army recruits who know how to handle rifles and gas masks. Bomberproofs are reported to have been excavated at many of these places.

Long Roads Hard Possible

It is the Japanese theory that if the situation developed into an open rupture, the Russians would wage a vigorous defensive campaign, prolonging hostilities on the theory that Japan—Manchukuo finances would not permit the alliance to keep up a long struggle.

This defensive would, the theorists argue, be punctuated with numerous air raids over Hsinching, Mukden and Dairen, chief cities of Manchukuo. They might even be extended to Japan for the Russian air fleet is believed capable of taking off from Vladivostok on raids which conceivably might reach Tokyo.

MAGIC TOOLS

Speed service on your car

WATCH the mechanic in the authorized service station. Note how he reaches for a specific, special tool when he is working on some intricate part of your car. Check with your watch and see how quickly he does a difficult job, and how well. Then contrast this with your roadside experiences with self-styled mechanics who bungled along with wrenches that could not reach the inaccessible places—while you paid for the experimenting.

Car manufacturers are supplying their appointed dealers with many ingenious pieces of equipment which do better jobs quicker. These tools are not for general distribution. That is another outstanding reason why you should have your car serviced by one of the following local authorized dealers:

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS...SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — The studio for which Clara Bow made her last two pictures doesn't know yet whether she will make another. One difficulty is that Clara doesn't know herself.

Brooklyn's leading cinema citizen—at least before Mae West bore on the scene—does not get terribly excited any more at the sight of her name in electric lights, and she doesn't seem money-mad.

She would have a lot more fun, she says often, helping her husband, Reg Bell run the Rancho Clarita, doing her own cooking and mending fences. (The Bow cooking incidentally, is on the level, and not done merely for the "stills" cameras.)

Would-Be Deserter

Rex, meanwhile, is trying to break away from the "westerns"—and not too successfully. He has not worked in several months and he is getting tired of loading—loading cinematographically.

When he finished his last contract for a series of western films, Rex decided he would undertake other types of screen roles. But he seems unable to remind the movie-makers that he played in urban comedy-dramas before he entered horse-operas.

However, there is no danger that Rex ever will become "Mr. Bow." He leaves Mrs. Bell's picture work entirely to Mrs. Bell, and she leaves his entirely to him. In the meantime, he looks after the ranch.

Press Agent Victory

A star who had developed the habit of breaking appointments lost a decision to a studio press agent this week when he told her earnestly and enthusiastically:

"I've arranged with one of the fan magazines for them to carry a big story on you. They have all the information they need but they'd like to have their ace writer get a few sentences directly from you. The story discusses how few women of your age are still playing leading roles on the screen..."

17 Persons Drowned, 150 Missing in Storm

Istanbul, Turkey, Dec. 1 (P)—Seventeen persons were drowned, 150 were missing and damage estimated at $225,000 was done at Samsun today by a storm which raged violently along the whole Black Sea coast.

Huge waves destroyed 57 fishing and motorboats, according to reports reaching here from the stricken area. Large sections of the city of Samsun were under water. Residents took shelter in the mosques. Many houses were destroyed.

Shipping on the Black Sea was paralyzed, but ships were taking shelter at Zonguldak and Inebolu.

Adding to the perils at Samsun, huge waves tumbled over the harbor breakwaters. The waves overturned freight cars on the Samsun-Chambala railroad.

Turkish passengers of the ship Amnara had a narrow escape when the vessel ran aground. All were landed safely at Samsun.

Driven in by the waves, the bodies of victims of sea disasters were mingled with the cargoes of wrecked fishing boats strewn along the snow-covered shore.

A part of the Samsun-Sivas railroad was inundated and the customs house, wheat and tobacco depots were destroyed.

Hundreds of injured were crowded into overflowing hospitals as the Turkish Red Crescent Society began the work of distributing tents and food among the victims.

Alleged Gangster Hangs Self in Cell

St. Paul, Dec. 1 (P)—Willie Sharkey, alleged Chicago gangster, hanged himself with his necktie in a cell in the Ramsey county jail here early today.

Sharkey with three other members of the Touhy gang, including Roger Touhy, the leader, was recently acquitted in federal district court of the $100,000 kidnapping of William Hamm, Jr., millionaire brewer.

Sheriff George H. Moeller said Sharkey was found dead by a jailer making his six o'clock rounds. He said rounds are made hourly and that apparently Sharkey had hanged himself sometime between 5 a. m. and 6 a. m. His cell was on the second floor.

Sheriff Moeller said Sharkey had complained of a headache to a guard about 1 a. m. and had asked for aspirin tablets.

Nov. 28, 1933.

Editor, The Freeman:

We arrived at this camp about November 1. There are about 20 local boys here. The camp is located about 40 miles from Tallahassee, the capital of Florida. We work in the forest, building roads. The mess hall has a seating capacity of 200 boys. We have a recreation hall, four barracks, and two showers. Some of the local boys have jobs as leaders on the forest gangs. The weather is very hot during the day, but it grows cool at night. I have a job as cook at the camp. This is all until the next writing.

Yours,
JOHN RAICHEL.

Mountain Madness

The rarefied air of high altitude has a strange effect on the minds of mountain climbers. They not only experience extreme difficulty in returning what they are doing, but some have hallucinations which cause them to disregard the moments while believing that they are still going upward.—Collier's Weekly.

A&P Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON—A brain-truster appears before congressional committees this winter. Is Dr. W. L. Myers, recently appointed governor of the farm credit administration, to resign?

At the start Columbia appeared to have the edge over Cornell. Professor Moyer was assistant secretary of state. Professor Tugwell was assistant secretary of agriculture.

Then Moyer resigned. Cornell started to the fore.

Now it seems Cornell is out in front.

Especially one of the more important of the professors in the present scheme of things is Warren of Cornell. The President's gold policy is attributed to him. Then there is the new governor of the farm credit administration, Dr. Myers, a Cornell man and a former student under Professor Warren.

High government officials in the past have had difficult times on such visits. One cabinet member nor so long ago became so incensed at the treatment he received that he stalked out of the committee room angrily. Another became so upset that tears welled up in his eyes.

If there is any effort at sharp-shooting at the "brain trust" through Myers this winter, it will be done in all probability very carefully.

The 42-year-old official is youthful in appearance and of the studious type. He appears cool and collected at all times, able to "give and take" with the best of them.

He's been "on the hill" before, too, and knows the ropes.

The Race Is On!

INCIDENTALLY, it is getting to be quite a game among observers of the Washington scene to watch the

The Emma Wygant 4-H Club held a Thanksgiving Day program in the assembly room Wednesday morning on November 28. The meeting was held for the purpose of planning the yearly programs. Miss Latimer led the girls in some motion songs. Then the girls and their leaders did a dance on different ways of earning money. Later in the meeting the girls played games and sang a till song. They departed with many "Thanksgiving Day" "Thanksgiving," "Gobble, Gobble," by Helen B. Lovell, the closing song, "Thanksgiving," by all the school pupils.

By JAMES

A few people get up bright and early, but most of us just get up early. — The rising generation retires about the time the retiring generation rises.

Nephew—Uncle, did God make Santa Claus?

Uncle—Yes.

Nephew—Did He make the whole world?

Uncle—Yes, it is so recorded.

Nephew—In six days?

Uncle—Yes, my boy.

Nephew—And it's all done and finished, Uncle?

Uncle—Yes.

Nephew—Well, Uncle, what business is God in now?

An eighth grade teacher asked her pupils:

Teacher—What are the sister states?

Mabel—I'm not sure, but I should think they were Missouri, Iowa, Mary Land, Calico Florida, Leslie, Anna, Delta, Ware, Minnie Sots and Mrs. Sippi.

We are breathlessly waiting for the statement of some poultryman that one of his hens laid an egg with a Blue Eagle embossed on it.

Agent—Can I sell you a good burglar alarm?

Man—No, but if you've got anything that will keep my wife from waking up when one visits us, trot it out.

Visitor—Have you any children?

Man—Yes—three.

Visitor—Do they live at home with you?

Man—Not one of them—they are not married yet.

The Brushville Bugle in speaking of a deceased citizen, said: "We knew him as Old Ten Per Cent. the more he had the less he spent; the more he got the less he lent; he's dead—we don't know where he went—but if his soul to heaven is sent, he'll own the harp and charge them rent."

Mr. Bayles telephoned the theater ticket office and asked:

Mr. Bayles—Can I get a box for two tonight?

Puzzled Voice—We don't have boxes for two.

Mr. Bayles (crossly)—Isn't this the theater?

Voice—Why no, you are talking to the Underaker.

Saints... The man who always measures his steps won't get anywhere until he throws away his ruler.

Most of those romances that blossomed on summer sands, are already on the rocks... Another one that shows dirt too easily in the divorce suit... Hospital bills are the worry of all except the very, very rich and the very, very poor.

The secret of a happy marriage is the innocent belief that no other kiss could provide such kick.

It's easier to float a rumor than it is to sink the truth... We cannot understand why, when making a movie out of a book, it is not thought good form to read the book... The first few weeks a new set of furs goes around looking for a draft to sit in.

The sub-divisions with the prettiest names get the most of the mortgagor trade... Gossips have a keen sense of rumor... Our wash woman says a mouth full of clothspeins is the best cure for the cigaret habit.

Visitor—I am collecting for the Poets Hospital. Will you contribute please?

Editor—With pleasure. Call to-night with your ambulance, and I will have two ready.

Some people are like a horse we saw at the races—they have a lot of speed when they get going, but they start too late.

Another theory of long standing which never worked out in practice, is that women's hats can't get funny.

The way to treat your critics, says Senator Huey Long in his autobiography is, "when they say damn, you say double damn." And then, we suppose, the next thing is a sock in the eye.

It's too bad Alice in Wonderland never got into politics. With her Higher Foolishness, she could clear up a lot of things for us.

A lot of fellows who heartily agree that "the saloon must never come back" are having a terrible time figuring out how to get it under some other name.

"Have an ear of dried corn, Christopher Columbus Crow."

"Caw, caw, I'll have one, thank you," said Christopher.

"Quack, quack, this weed salad is delicious," quacked the Ducks.

After dinner the Rough-Toughs came over from the next village to play a football match with the Puddie Muddies. The Puddie Muddies were badly beaten. But did they mind? Not a bit of it. They had had plenty to eat—all they had wanted!

"I have another honey-comb for you," Willy Nilly told Jelly Bear. "Do have just a taste more."

Jelly Bear was already covered with jelly, but he liked that. When the feast was over he could go outside and have a lovely time licking his paws.

"I have another honey-comb for you," Willy Nilly said to Honey Bear. She took it over to the corner and sat down to eat it.

"Won't you have a second helping of grain?" Willy Nilly asked Top Notch, which was very polite of him considering that Top Notch had already had three.

GAS BUGGIES—Power of Suggestion.

HOME OFFICE STUDYING BRITAIN'S GAS DEFENSE

London, (AP)—Britain is investigating means of defense against poison gas in event of attack from the air.

This was revealed by the chief of the Imperial general staff, General Sir A. Montague-Massingberd, at a meeting here on military defense.

A questioner remarked that France had constructed subterranean anti-gas chambers, and asked if Britain had anything of that kind.

The general, replying that it was the duty of neither the war office nor the air ministry to take such steps, said: "The home office has taken the matter up, and has appointed an able army officer to go into the whole question."

TURKS BREAK WINE TABOO.

Ankara, (AP)—Turkey's celebration of the tenth anniversary of the republic saw 15,000 bottles of champagne sold in this small capital alone.

The old Koranic taboo against alcohol is just one of the traditions demolished by the regime of Mustapha Kemal.

Money Battles That Made History

No. 4—The "Thirty Years War" ... Cleveland ... Bryan ...

Among outstanding figures in money battles near the end of the 30 years following the Civil War were William Jennings Bryan and President Grover Cleveland. Bryan's advocacy of coining of silver on a "16-1" basis here is shown as depicted in a contemporary cartoon. In the background is an old picture showing the New York Stock Exchange on "Black Friday," September 24, 1869, upon receipt of the report that the U. S. Treasury was selling gold.

This article is the fourth and last of a series dealing with historic American monetary battles.

By CARI C. CRAMMER

Washington, D. C.—The 30 years' history of the United States after the Civil War is an account of an almost continual "money battle."

Even today, as arguments rage about the Roosevelt administration's money policies, echoes from the earlier struggle come rolling on.

It split the Democratic party, made Cleveland, perhaps the most hated and the most admired public man in his time, produced two "third party" movements, and finally witnessed the climactic campaign of William Jennings Bryan in 1896.

"Hard Money" and Toryism

Norman Angell, writing in 1929 in his book "Money" of early American financial history, said, "In some sense 'hard money' became associated with Toryism, monarchism, and oppression, and paper money with Democracy, freedom and rights of the people."

This political cleavage originating in colonial days was accentuated in the later agitations over greenbacks and free coinage of silver.

The Greenback Battle

The battle over the greenbacks had its origin in the issue of $450,000,000 of legal tender bills, unsupported by specie, during the Civil War.

The first act of congress in 1863, was to provide for gradual retirement of this non-interest bearing debt, but two years later congress rescinded its action.

Finally, after the Democrats had regained control of the lower house following the panic of 1873, a lame-duck congress in 1875 enacted the resumption act, providing for specie payments for the greenbacks by January 1, 1879. The greenbacks reached parity with gold in 1878.

Greenback Party Organized

But continual need for fresh capital in the west resulted in organization of the Greenback party in 1876.

The climax came in 1896. Hardly known in national politics, Bryan, the 36-year-old "Commoner," swept the 1878 congressional elections with his "cross of gold" speech and became its presidential choice. The "Gold Democrats" bolted to independent candidates, and the Republican McKinley took a stand for the gold standard, and was elected.

In March, 1900, the gold standard act was made law.

The panic of 1907 convinced many of a need of reform of the banking system, rather than the money system, with the result that the Federal Reserve system was created in the Wilson administration, and it was thought that panics and depressions had been made impossible.

But then came the World War, with its attendant inflation at home and abroad, depreciated currencies, gold hoarding by governments and individuals, and finally the crash of 1929—against which background the United States third.

The world's monetary stock of gold is rising, having jumped 140 per cent since 1913, and gold holdings have increased by $1,600,000,000 since 1929. Yet some nations are short of gold, while others, notably France and the United States, have brimming coffers. The gold in forty-four countries is estimated by the federal reserve board at about $12,000,000,000.

Cleveland Serves New Term

Two limited silver purchase acts were passed in 1877 and 1890, to lift the price of silver and expand the currency. The treasury began to feel money issue has returned in 1933.

Silver and Gold Together

Silver and gold are almost invariably found together in the same deposit, though the relation of their amounts varies extremely.

JERRY PLANS A HOUSE FOR REDDY

A S. REDDY FOX trotted away in the moonlight with never a glance back at the Smiling Pool and Jerry Muskrat he grinned. "He almost forgot himself," he muttered. "In another minute he would have been out on the bank. If he had he would have been in my stomach by this time," Reddy chuckled. "I wonder how he came to wake up so suddenly. Well, I don't mind. I didn't expect to get him the very first time. I'll call a few times and after a while he'll forget all about who I am."

Promptly at the appointed time the next evening Reddy appeared on the fore. Jerry wouldn't have had Reddy know it for the world, but he had thought of little else but that house since Reddy had left the night before. You know Jerry dearly loves house-building and planning.

"I've thought about it a little," he confessed. "Of course you know my house hasn't any entrance except from underneath, by way of a tunnel and that is what makes it so safe," he continued.

Reddy nodded. "I know," said he, "but of course my house, being on dry land, will have to have an entrance in the side."

"No. It won't!" cried Jerry Muskrat, drifting in close to the bank. "No. It won't! A doorway in the side would let the cold air in and make it too cold for comfort. Besides, any one who came by could stick his head in. You can have your entrance from a tunnel just the same as I do, only your tunnel will be wholly in the ground and not under water!"

Jerry was getting excited as he talked, and he drifted nearer and nearer the bank. "You have an underground house now; haven't you?" he went on.

Reddy nodded. "I certainly have, and it's a good one," he replied.

"Then all you've got to do is to dig a tunnel from that up to the new house we will build, and there you are!" cried Jerry triumphantly.

"Jerry, you certainly are a wonder!" cried Reddy, pretending to be lost in admiration. "I never, never in the world would have thought of that. No sir, I never would. I notice that you said the house that we'll build. I'm so glad you've decided to help me. I can tell you how grateful I am."

"But I didn't say I would help you build it," cried Jerry, backing away in sudden alarm. "I meant that I would help with the plans, and by telling you how."

"Of course," replied Reddy. "How stupid of me not to understand. Now what do you suggest I build that house of?"

Jerry stopped swimming and glanced toward the bank where Reddy sat. He was looking just as handsome and just as pleasant as he had on the night before.

"He Almost Forgot Himself," he muttered.

bank of the Smiling Pool. From the shadow of the Big Rock Jerry Muskrat was watching him. He tried to make himself think he wasn't watching for Reddy, but he was. And if Reddy hadn't come Jerry would have been disappointed. As it was he swam out quite as if he was on his way to the entrance of the Laughing Brook.

"Have you got my new house all planned for me?" asked Reddy softly.

Jerry stopped swimming and glanced toward the bank where Reddy sat. He was looking just as handsome and just as pleasant as he had on the night before.

"I planned for me," he replied.

NEW MONETARY PLAN SPURS GOLD MINING

Increased Activity Seen in Western Sections.

Washington.—The administration's policy of purchasing newly mined gold at higher than world prices is expected to stimulate further an industry that is already intensely active in this and other countries—gold mining.

Since the United States went off the gold standard last spring and raised the price of gold far above the figure of $20.67 an ounce, activity in the western mining areas has greatly increased. A survey conducted by the California division of mines in June revealed that equipment dealers had sold nearly $1,000,000 worth of mining machinery so far this season, and that the number of licensed gold buyers had increased 40 per cent.

Now reports from the West tell of still greater numbers of prospectors coming the hills and valleys of the mountain states, and many old mines, closed for years, have been reopened.

Big Output Last Year.

Last year the United States and its territories produced 2,513,000 ounces of gold valued at $31,836,500, the largest output since 1924. The order of production was as follows:

California	$11,700,000
South Dakota	10,826,300
Alaska	8,982,200
Colorado	6,239,400
Papua-Pines	6,726,000
Utah	3,174,100
Navajo	2,638,500
Arizona	2,384,500
Montana	997,300
Idaho	854,300

New Mexico and Oregon mines supplied ore worth nearly half a million dollars, and other places which yielded lesser amounts were Washington, Wyoming, Puerto Rico, Georgia, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Texas and Alabama.

The United States ordinarily consumes in manufacture and the arts more gold than it produces, the figure ranging generally from $42,000,000 to nearly $80,000,000 a year. Of this metal used for industrial and artistic purposes, old gold, melted down, supplies about $30,000,000 a year, the balance coming from the newly mined or imported gold.

Placer Mining.

Placer mining accounted for about 20 per cent of the American gold production for 1929, which was considered a normal year, while lode mining produced 80 per cent. In the placers the gold is recovered from sand and gravel by handwashing, sluicing, hydraulicking, drifting or dredging, while the lode mines produce gold mainly from underground workings, from ore as distinguished from gravel.

World production of gold last year was 28,911,000 ounces. South Africa produced nearly half the world's total output, 11,566,000 ounces, while Canada was second with 3,035,000 and the United States third.

The world's monetary stock of gold is rising, having jumped 140 per cent since 1913, and gold holdings have increased by $1,600,000,000 since 1929. Yet some nations are short of gold, while others, notably France and the United States, have brimming coffers. The gold in forty-four countries is estimated by the federal reserve board at about $12,000,000,000.

At The Theatres:

Today

Kingston: "Havana Widows." A cast of six great comedy stars, headed by Jean Blondell make this a riotous comedy of Gold diggers and their methods. Frank McHugh, Glopda Farrell, Allen Jenkins, Guy Kibbee and Ruth Donnelly complete the list of comedy stars and their antics one hilarious episode after another. Good entertainment.

Orpheum: "Jeanne Gerhardt" and "Deadline." The first feature offers Sylvia Sydney in Theodore Drury's story of a girl who gives her love to a man for years only to be left by him, for another. The acting of Miss Sydney is far above average and she is ably supported by Donald Cook and Coree Sue Collins. The second is another of Buck Jones' special westerns offering plenty of action.

Broadway: On the screen, "Arizona to Broadway" featuring James Dunn and Joan Bennett. An old plot not interestingly handled is saved by the acting of the two stars assisted in the laugh getting by Sammy Cohen. There are some fair musical numbers. On the stage four acts of vaudeville headed by Maxine, the Cuban wonder, Sherman and McVay, Walton and Craig, and the Little Show Revue.

Tomorrow

Kingston: "Only Yesterday". An emotional story, of women's love and man's forgetfulness, that was 11 months in the making. John Boles is excellent in his part doing some of his best acting. Margaret Sullivan plays the female lead and the two stars are assisted by 93 feature players. Good entertainment.

Orpheum: "Murder in the Zoo" and "Man of the Forest". The first is a thrill producer with the master of horror pictures, Lionel Atwill heading the cast. Charlie Ruggles is good as is Kathleen Burke. The second feature is another of Zane Grey's stories made into a very good picture. Randolph Scott heads the cast with Harry Care, Noah Berry, Vernon Hillie and Edgar Crabb helping make the picture good entertainment.

Mars' Temperature Mean

40 Degrees Below Zero
Mars is 141,546,700 miles distant from the sun. Accordingly, notes a writer in the Chicago American, it receives a great deal less heat than Venus or the earth. Science estimates that the mean temperature of Mars is about 40 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. Conditions appear much less favorable for supporting life than on Venus. The atmospheric blanket of Mars is very thin. Around its North and South poles are heavy ice caps which appear to spread further downward toward its equator as winter sets in. The planet is believed to have very little water.

Only about half as big as the earth, Mars presents nevertheless a beautiful sight in the heavens. It shines not unlike the ruddy glow from a fire, dominating the sky with its brilliance. Through a telescope it looks like a round disk, with swirls of greenish blue and yellowish lines spreading across a large part of its surface.

Astronomers have found many likenesses between the earth and Venus so far. An observer, looking at the two planets from another, would find they were almost exactly alike as to size. Venus is held to be roughly about 327 miles smaller in diameter than the earth. The mass of Venus is practically the same as that of the earth. The force of gravity is not much different between the two, it being only about 15 per cent less on Venus. Mars, being only about half the earth's size, and with a density of about three-fourths that of the earth, has as a result a vastly lesser gravitational force.

Women in Andorra Work Side by Side With Men

Women of Andorra, that vest-pocket republic tucked in the mountains between France and Spain, work side by side with their men. The necessity of bringing a livelihood from its soil exacts every ounce of effort from those it sustains. These women of Andorra are neither large, muscular nor masculine. They are small and lithe, with fine sharp features. Their bodies are of the compact sinewy flesh of mountaineers, and they are trained to their work from childhood. The National Geographic society reports.

They are always clothed in black. In the fields they wear long black dresses that set off their slender forms, and black shawls and scarfs over their heads. On Sunday for church their costume is the same, but the black of their cloth seems newer.

But this is not true of their younger daughters. Girlhood is the time of bright colors, of the dance, of the promenade on the days of the fiesta. And likewise of work. In Andorra it is not bright colors, prettiness or coquetry that win the man; it is a reputation for being a worker. And so the Andorra girl who would marry well sets out most industriously to acquire it.

They're starting now to use light as a substitute for stage scenery. And that will be all right as long as they don't go ahead and make too lavish a use of it for stage clothing.

Only about 10,000 barley plants were destroyed in Illinois the first six months of 1933, for prevention of black-stem rust, as contrasted with 2,500,000 in previous years.

Gordon Case May Go Before Jury Today

M Convicted of Defrauding Government of $1,000,000 Income Taxes, Waxed Gordon Faces 14-Year Sentence—Pictured as More Salaried Underling.

New York, Dec. 1 (AP).—Waxed Gordon, whom the government seeks to send away for a long stretch on the charge he cheated it out of $1,000,000 income taxes, was variously pictured today as a "more salaried underling" and as "kingpin of the illicit brew trade."

Federal Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, summing up as the case neared its end, branded the reputed beer baron as a "liar" and a "great, self-admitted criminal."

Previously Defense Counsel Charles C. F. Waller had told the jury that the government erred in calling Gordon a "master mind" who made $4,000,000 in two years; that in reality, at festive dinners Gordon sat not with the leaders of the organization that "employed" him but with the brew master and other workers; thereby indicating he was merely an underling.

The case was expected to go to the jury today. If convicted Gordon faces a possible 14-year sentence.

Gordon, tense with attention as his lawyer talked, sat near his wife, who heard Wahle say that Gordon was a faithful family man. Despite misdirection, the lawyer said, no one had tied Gordon up with any woman but his wife.

Dewey flailed away at Gordon, crying that this is a prosecution for the most flagrant violation of the revenue laws ever committed in this country."

The snowy-haired defense counsel, on the other hand, insisted that even if the defendant had broken the law, he had furnished employment to many men. He said that despite this Gordon was a prisoner "while the men who caused the depression" walk the streets free.

Dewey emphasized that this was an income tax case, not concerned with the illegality of the liquor racket.

The government has proved that

Gordon has accrued huge profits for which he did not pay the right income tax," said Dewey.

Dewey applied an assortment of descriptive terms to Gordon, among them "liar" and "great, self-admitted criminal."

In attempting to justify that first name, the prosecutor charged Gordon had "prevaricated consistently yesterday when he repudiated the testimony of government witnesses."

Sprague Goes Back To Harvard Faculty

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 1 (AP).—Professor Oliver W. W. Sprague, former special assistant secretary of the Treasury, who resigned because he disagreed with the administration's monetary program, will rejoin the Harvard University faculty.

Dean Wallace B. Donham of the Harvard Business School announced today Sprague will resume his duties as converse professor of banking and will conduct a new course to be given in extra sessions beginning in January. He was granted leave of absence three years ago to become economic adviser to the Bank of England and left that post at the request of President Roosevelt.

University officials said the new course Professor Sprague will conduct was designed to give students an opportunity critically to evaluate the principles of recovery in a changing economic situation.

Liquor Import Allowed On 1919-1914 Basis

Policy Effective With Reproved Next Tuesday—Imports to be Adequate Only For Normal Consumption of This Country.

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP).—The executive commercial policy committee, representing four governmental departments, decided today to allow importation of liquor from foreign countries for a four-month period on quotas based on the 1919-1914 basis.

Secretary Wallace, who recently conferred with President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, had a hand in today's meeting.

The import policy becomes effective when repeal comes into force next Tuesday.

average for each country.

This administration, one of many in the administration working on the recovery program in general, is concerned especially with ways and means of making foreign trade more profitable.

On it are officials of the state commerce and agriculture departments and of the treasury. Secretary Wallace, who recently conferred with President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, had a hand in today's meeting.

The import policy becomes effective when repeal comes into force next Tuesday.

The Agriculture Department is setting up the liquor manufacture and importation regulations.

It was understood that the quota basis was decided upon with the idea that importations now should be adequate only for the normal liquor consumption of this country.

It is desired to prevent the dumping of foreign surplus liquor stocks.

Soldiers to Audit Football Receipts

Norman, Okla., Dec. 1 (AP).—Capt. E. R. Smith, two other officers and eight men of Battery B, 159th Field Artillery, returned to Norman today to audit the gate receipts of the Thanksgiving Day football game between the State University and the State A. and M. College.

Capt. Smith said all passes were rejected at the gate yesterday under orders of Governor W. H. Murray, who sent the National Guard unit to supersede the handling of the game. The officer indicated that the governor or his aides had too many passes had been issued, causing a substantial loss in ticket sales.

Putting Ballast Through a Laundry

THIS mammoth ballast laundry, the first of its kind ever placed in operation, is shown giving a bath to the ballast on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad near Pittsburgh. This machine digs down into the ballast to a depth of ten inches below the ties on both sides of the track and thoroughly cleans the stones, mechanically returning them to the track in the proper arrangement. The dirt that is taken from the ballast is stored in dump cars behind the cleaner, while at stations or in cuts, and is dumped along the track when the cleaner is operating on a fill. The new machine can handle five miles of track in a single working day, and it cleans at the rate of 650 tons of stone in an hour. It might be mentioned that railroad rock ballast must be cleaned regularly to give resilience and strength to the tracks, to eliminate dust on the ballast, and to improve the riding qualities of the road bed.

Do YOU Know—

THE USELESS

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHO are the useless? If a beggar smiled
And gave a faded posy to a child,
Then who would say
He had not served that day,
Or he himself, and not been reckoned?

There are no useless. If a man can find—
And so he can—occasions to be kind,
No high nor low
Nor rich nor poor men know
In life's great kingdom of the heart and mind.

Who are the useless? Only those who pass
And give no word, no thought, no look,
alas,
To other men
Or other women then,
Whatever heights they win or wealth amass.

These are the useless. But the much required
The very needed and the most desired,
Are those who meet
The world and leave it sweet,
The humble heartened and the great inspired.

While nearly all the rest of the world was faltering economically, Palestine absorbed thousands of Jewish immigrants annually and building construction, agriculture, and industry boomed. Altogether, more than 600 new industries have sprung up throughout Palestine since the World War. Palestine ports were more trucks and automobiles were strange transports that most of the inhabitants had never seen. In less than a year from Jerusalem to eastward on the banks of the Jordan river. Incidentally that historic stream harnessed near the Sea of Galilee generates electricity for light and power throughout a large part of Palestine. Even the Dead sea has been put to productive use. Although it has never supported a fisherman, it now supports a huge salt producing industry, and scientists have discovered in its waters abundant supplies of other useful chemicals.

Rises Out of Sand Dunes.

"But the Palestine of 1933 is far different. The returned traveler finds that Jewish colonists and Jewish money have been effective economic tones and that Palestine has awakened. Even venerable Jerusalem seems to have taken a new lease on life. The historic old city within the walls still abounds, but outside the bustling street crowds, the sound of carpenters' hammers and masons' trowels, the changing panoramas with multi-story buildings rising above the roof tops of more ancient structures.

These are the useless. But the much required

Kingston High Wins DUSO Title By Defeating Newburgh, 13 to 6

Thanksgiving afternoon before 5,400 fans, the football team of Kingston High School ran up to the 36 yard line where after an incomplete pass, Cullum of Kingston returned it to Newburgh's 27 yard strip. After Tiano advanced the ball three more yards, Cullum tucked the pigskin under his arm and carried to the 12 yard line. Here Tiano and Davis carried it to Newburgh's five yard marker where Cullum advanced it to the one foot line on a line plunge. On the next play Cullum again took the ball and on a line plunge carried it over the goal line for Kingston's first score. The try for an extra point on an attempted drop kick was unsuccessful. After the touchdown, DeBrosky of Kingston kicked on to the 10 yard line where McKinstry of Newburgh returned it to the 22 yard line before being stopped. Cunningham of Newburgh carried it to the 28 yard marker, where Armour got off a short pass which brought the ball to the 40 yard strip. On the next play Armento got off a pass which was knocked down by Cullum. This play brought to a close the first half.

Cullum Tallys Again

As the second half started with the score 6-0, Kingston continued to outplay Newburgh as she did in the first half, keeping the ball the major part of the time in Newburgh territory. When the whistle blew ending the game, Kingston had gained 19 first downs to her opponents' seven. The second half started with Blume of them 65 yards in all and helped to trip off three first downs in a row. On the 20 yard line, Gil Kelley took the ball and on an end run the next three plays Saehoff, Cullum and Tiano put their hands on the ball and advanced it to their own 47-yard line. On the next play Cullum carried the pigskin to Newburgh's 48-yard line where Tiano added one more yard. Tiano got off a beautiful 15-yard pass to Saehoff, who carried it to the 35-yard line. Here Davis of Kingston advanced the ball to the 20-yard line, and Cullum on a line plunge took it to the 18-yard marker. A penalty was imposed on Newburgh which brought the ball to its own eight-yard line. Here Cullum on an end run took the ball and ran over the Newburgh goal line standing up, ending a 15-yard march down the field from the opening kickoff of the second half. Fertel was sent in to kick the extra point. He kicked the ball straight between the uprights, making the score 13-0 in favor of Kingston. After the touchdown, Fertel kicked off to Newburgh's 10-yard line where Blume of the Stevensmen returned it to his own 44-yard line. Here McKinstry and Welsh of the Stevensmen advanced the ball to Kingston's own 40-yard line where a 10-yard penalty was imposed on Kingston which brought the ball to its own 30-yard line. Here Blume on a lateral pass carried the pigskin to Kingston's 19-yard line where after a non-gaining play, he once more took the ball and brought it to Kingston's 15-yard line. After an incomplete pass by Armour, Blume took the ball from Armour on a tricky reverse tackle and carried it over Kingston's goal line for Newburgh's only score of the game, making the tally 13-6 in Kingston's favor. At this point Davis of Kingston ripped off a 10 yard gain, which brought the ball to Newburgh's 21 yard marker. Here Cullum of Kingston advanced the ball one more yard and after Tiano failed to advance the ball, Cullum got off a short pass to Saehoff, who carried it to Newburgh's 13 yard line. Here after an incomplete pass the ball again came into the hands of Newburgh. With the ball on his own 13 yard line, Captain Armour of Newburgh took it and advanced to the 14 yard line where he fumbled and Kingston recovered. After falling to advance, Cullum got off a pass which was intercepted by McKinstry of Newburgh on his four yard line. Immediately Captain Armour punted to midfield where "Jas" Cullum of Kingston returned the ball to the 43 yard strip of Newburgh. Tiano got off a 19 yard run which brought the pigskin to Cullum's 36 yard line. Saehoff, Cullum, Tiano and Davis each took the ball and advanced it three yards apiece which brought the ball to the 24 yard strip. On the next three plays Cullum advanced the ball to the 20 yard strip. Here with the goal line once more in sight, Kingston failed to advance the ball for one down and on the next down lost two yards which ended the first quarter. In the first quarter the ball remained in Newburgh's territory constantly, never being advanced beyond the 50 yard line by Newburgh.

Cullum Scores

Co-starring with "Jas" Cullum in the backfield were "Mac" Tiano, who got off a brilliant 40 yard run in the third quarter, and "Art" Davis, who played the hang-up game of his scholastic football career. Having the tough assignment of filling in for Burgevin, who was unable to play all of the game because of a recent attack of grip, Davis filled the job with admirable dexterity, gaining ground on both long and short runs. Starring in the forward wall was Captain Tony DeBrosky, leader of this great football team, probably the greatest Kingston ever had, also "Zip" Zaccero, who is one of the best guards. Coach Klas has developed, and "Cowboy" Evory, who played a spectacular game on the right wing.

Play by Play

In the first quarter at the opening whistle of this crucial game, Captain DeBrosky of Kingston kicked off to Newburgh's 10 yard line. Here Andrews of Newburgh carried the ball to the 16 yard strip where Captain Armour of Newburgh punted to midfield. Here Saehoff and Tiano aided by a five yard penalty imposed on Newburgh for being offside, carried the pigskin to Newburgh's 31 yard line. At this point Davis of Kingston rapped off a 10 yard gain, which brought the ball to Newburgh's 21 yard marker. Here Cullum of Kingston advanced the ball one more yard and after Tiano failed to advance the ball, Cullum got off a short pass to Saehoff, who carried it to Newburgh's 13 yard line. Here after an incomplete pass the ball again came into the hands of Newburgh. With the ball on his own 13 yard line, Captain Armour of Newburgh took it and advanced to the 14 yard line where he fumbled and Kingston recovered. After falling to advance, Cullum got off a pass which was intercepted by McKinstry of Newburgh on his four yard line. Immediately Captain Armour punted to midfield where "Jas" Cullum of Kingston returned the ball to the 43 yard strip of Newburgh. Tiano got off a 19 yard run which brought the pigskin to Cullum's 36 yard line. Saehoff, Cullum, Tiano and Davis each took the ball and advanced it three yards apiece which brought the ball to the 24 yard strip. On the next three plays Cullum advanced the ball to the 20 yard strip. Here with the goal line once more in sight, Kingston failed to advance the ball for one down and on the next down lost two yards which ended the first quarter. In the first quarter the ball remained in Newburgh's territory constantly, never being advanced beyond the 50 yard line by Newburgh.

Cullum Scores

The second quarter opened with the ball resting on Newburgh's 11 yard line. At this point Fertel, Kingston kicking substitute, tackled was sent in to attempt a field goal. The ball was centered to Cullum, who held it to await the arrival of Fertel's educated toe to send it on its journey. Fertel kicked and although it had the proper height, it did not go on its true course and so was no good. The ball was taken out to the 20 yard line where Newburgh gained possession of it. On the next three plays, Andrews, stellar Newburgh back, advanced the ball to the 45 yard line of Kingston by 10, 20 and five yard runs. After McKinstry of the Blue and Gold advanced the pigskin one more yard, Captain Armour of the Stevensmen punted to Kingston's 20 yard line. After failing to advance the ball on one down, Tiano took it and tucked it under his arm to take it on the longest run of the day for a 40 yard gain. Behind excellent interference, Tiano eluded the whole Newburgh team with the exception of the safety man who literally caught Tiano by his cleats. With the ball now resting on Newburgh's 47 yard strip, the ball team of Kingston High School ran up to the 36 yard line where after an incomplete pass, Cullum of Kingston returned it to Newburgh's 27 yard strip. After Tiano advanced the ball three more yards, Cullum tucked the pigskin under his arm and carried to the 12 yard line. Here Tiano and Davis carried it to Newburgh's five yard marker where Cullum advanced it to the one foot line on a line plunge. On the next play Cullum again took the ball and on a line plunge carried it over the goal line for Kingston's first score. The try for an extra point on an attempted drop kick was unsuccessful. After the touchdown, DeBrosky of Kingston kicked on to the 10 yard line where McKinstry of Newburgh returned it to the 22 yard line before being stopped. Cunningham of Newburgh carried it to the 28 yard marker, where Armour got off a short pass which brought the ball to the 40 yard strip. On the next play Armento got off a pass which was knocked down by Cullum. This play brought to a close the first half.

Kingston Wins DUSO Title

Yesterday afternoon while Kingston was beating Newburgh for the championship of the DUSO League, the Middletown was battling Port Jervis to keep out of the cellar position of the league. Playing on their own field the Middletown beat the Tri-State city team 13-7 and managed to finish the league with losing two and winning one, while Port Jervis lost her last two games.

GOING Christmas shopping without knowing what you're going to buy is like trying to use a pay phone without a directory.

Going Christmas shopping without knowing what you're going to spend is like trying to use the phone without a nickel.

You may get through on the first—for the stores are full of pleasant surprises. But go hit or miss on spending—and either your Christmas list or your Christmas budget is bound to strike a snag.

The ad reading habit is invaluable at Christmas time. It lets you plan your list in advance. You know what you're going to give to whom. You know how much it's going to cost . . . down to the last little penny.

Reading the ads saves you many a weary footstep . . . Many a jostle and shove . . . many a disappointment. Reading the ads, you'll almost always find you can save a few dollars to buy a nicer gift for someone very special or to bank away for next Christmas.

And remember this! Advertised merchandise is always better merchandise. At Christmas time. And all the year 'round.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 1 (P.)—Stocks displayed a moderate upward surge today in quiet trading at the domestic market. The gold rate was lifted another $1 to $23.41 an ounce.

While there was no rush for equities generally, and an occasional soft spot was noted in the list, the persistence of the administration's price-raising program was an obvious selling deterrent. Trading was largely professional. The British pound advanced some 2 cents and the French franc moved up about 1½ of a cent in early dealings, but subsequently yielded part of their gains. Golds were indecisive, but cotton, rubber, and silver showed heads were mixed, with federal issues a trifling factor.

Shares up 1 to around 2 included those of DuPont, Johns-Manville, American Can Co., Allied Chemical, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, U. S. Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, National Distillers, American Commercial Alcohol, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Commercial Solvents. American Telephone dropped a point when General Hugh Johnson, N.R.A. administrator, announced that a wage-and-hour agreement would be imposed on the company if necessary.

The freight car loadings report for the week ended Nov. 25 showing a decline of 17,512 under the previous week, apparently was not interpreted as pessimistic. The decrease, it was pointed out, was probably less than seasonal. The week's total of 481,347 loadings was $8,025 above the same 1932 period, although last year's week included the Thanksgiving holiday.

Wooden Traffic Sign Is Mine of Information

Castine, Maine.—A wooden traffic sign here is a mine of information. His upraised hand is a hint for motorists to slow down.

His other hand holds a sign which warns "Bad Corner."

Another sign indicates 15 miles per hour as the speed limit.

An arrow points the way to a golf club.

An arm indicates the direction to a lighthouse.

Another pointer shows the way to old Fort George.

Two other signs bear the names of the streets at the junction.

"Voices" in Well Foretell Storms or Fair Weather

Seattle.—Like grandpa's ake in his knee, residents of Belcarra are able to forecast the weather by a "whispering well."

F. X. Sears, deputy county clerk, owns the well. He says, that it "exhalts" with the sound of a long sigh when a storm is brewing and whispers news of good weather with a low "whee-esh" as it sucks in air.

The well is 135 feet deep and the lower levels are quicksand.

Douglas Grows From Tree
Rolle, Iowa.—Yellow daisies growing from the trunk of a tree about 15 feet from the ground, have attracted considerable attention here. The tree is a boxelder located on the lawn of Dr. C. W. Steffens residence.

Cars Run in Old Subway
Boston.—Trolleys still operate on the Tremont street subway here. It is the Tremont street subway, built in 1897. With subsequent alterations it cost $4,000,000.

Marmont Entertainments

Mr. and Mrs. C. Barnowitz of 81 West Chester street entertained at Thanksgiving Day guests Mr. and Mrs. L. Farber and family, Mr. and Mrs. Barnowitz and family, Mr. and Mrs. M. Mones and family, Paul Black, Miss Rose Schryer, Mr. and Mrs. C. Barnowitz. Leaving after the social, all voted Mr. and Mrs. Barnowitz royal entertainers.

Pickering-Thomass

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Ostrand on 25 Oak street, this city, on Thanksgiving Day when their niece, Marion Edna Thomas, of Peekskill, became the bride of Sidney J. Pickering of Springfield, Mass. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. E. Rigall of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, under a canopy of silk and silver bells. The bride was attired in white taffeta and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. She was given away by her father. Her mother was matron of honor and she wore brown silk. After the ceremony a luncheon was served to relatives and a few friends at a prettily arranged table, which was decorated with a huge wedding cake. The happy couple left Friday morning for a honeymoon, after which they will reside in Peekskill. The fact that the bride's father and mother were married in the same house, added a unique touch to a very pretty wedding.

Pinetree-Claire

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Colman's Church during Mass on Thanksgiving Day, November 30, 1933, at 9 o'clock, joining in marriage Miss Lena Claire, daughter of Mrs. Theresa Clause of East Kingston, and Salvatore Pinetree, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Pinetree of Amsterdam. The bride was attired in white satin and veil, and carried white chrysanthemums. She was attended by Miss Erma Nard of East Kingston, who was gowned in blue satin with white accessories. She also carried white chrysanthemums. The best man was Edward Alteri of Amsterdam. After the ceremony a dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother for immediate friends and relatives of the couple. The bride and groom left for an extended honeymoon trip through northern New York and upon their return will reside in Middletown, where the groom is employed as manager of the Beck-Hazard shoe store. He was formerly manager of the Kingston branch.

Miscellaneous Shower

Rifton, Dec. 1.—A miscellaneous shower was given to Miss Emily Eckert in honor of her engagement to George Mericle of Kingston. It was a gala affair and was held at the family residence. The dining room was beautifully decorated in blue and white. On the tables were orange candles in blue holders. Many games were played and at 10:30 o'clock a sumptuous supper was served. Later in the evening Eleanor Felber played piano selections and Miss Eckert received many beautiful as well as useful presents. Those present were: Mrs. Carrie Mericle, Mrs. Scism, the Misses Bell and Hazel Scism, Mary Lloyd and Lizzie Cole, all of Kingston. From St. Remy were Mrs. Phil Fischer, Sr., Mrs. G. Gerritsen, Miss Jenalee Burdyan and Mrs. Lester McMahon. The Rifton folks were the Misses Anna Divine, Margaret O'Connor, Eleanor Felber, Virginia Fraleigh and Amy Bradenburg. Mrs. David Blake, Mrs. Harry Eckert, Mrs. Louis Palkowics, Mrs. Paul Bailey, Mrs. Hayward Eckert, Mrs. Emery Terpenning, Mrs. Lucy Jacoby, Mrs. Alvin Nicholas, Mrs. George Bradenburg, Mrs. Edw. Fradenburg, Mrs. Jack Remus and Mrs. Julius Eckert. Later the following men came for short stay: George Mericle, Harry Eckert, Julius Eckert, Mr. Scism, Robert Felton and Phil Fischer, Sr. All went home having spent a glorious evening and wishing Miss Eckert and Mr. Mericle much good fortune.

First Dog Sheep Herder

The old English sheep dog perhaps was the first dog ever trained to tend the shepherd's flock. The present breed is supposed to be the direct descendant, without cross, from the original stock that ruled the pastures of England in the Nineteenth century. The herding instincts have become highly specialized and the great strength, muscular development and heavy coat fits it to withstand the most rigorous climates and most fatiguing work. This dog is of striking appearance with a long, shaggy coat of gray, blue or grizzle. Any semblance of brown is undesirable. The average shoulder height is about 22 inches, with the females running slightly under this. It is bob-tailed and contrary to general belief it is not born tailless, but the appendage is docked in infancy.

The Code of Hammurabi

The Code of Hammurabi was promulgated by the Babylonian ruler of that time (2000 to 1900 B. C.) for the use of the country throughout the Babylonian empire. The code is engraved on a block of black diorite, nearly eight feet high, and was discovered in 1901 and 1902 broken in three pieces. There are 65 laws on the obverse and about 50 defined at the bottom. The reverse contains 180. The code begins with witchcraft, which connects it with the religious code: passes through all grades of social and domestic life, ending with a scale of official wages for all classes of workers. It also deals with money transactions and the laws of property.

MORAN TOLD OF PLATINUM GOLD CITY, BACKS SILVER

Washington, Dec. 1 (P.)—Disclosed are the facts that the government had used only a fraction of its $50,000,000 gold-baring fund during more than a month's operations accompanied by a vigorous new demand from Senator Borah of Idaho for re-monetization of silver.

Exact figures were withheld on the Reconstruction Corporation's actual entry for newly mined domestic metal and gold brought abroad, in official quarters the expenditure was described as "not anything like" the $50,000,000 originally set aside. Domestic sources put the correct figure as well under half this amount.

A Pork Problem For The AAA

The corn-hog reduction program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration aims at making both the curves in the above chart coincide "on the hoof" in the shape of pork.

PRINCESS NAMED AS
NEXT MONACO RULERMonarch Settles Claims to Succession.

Monte Carlo.—The various claims to right of succession to the principality of Monaco have been busily settled by the bachelor ruler, Prince Louis II, who has issued a decree reuniting his illegitimate daughter, Princess Charlotte, as his successor.

Monte Carlo and Monaco are virtually synonymous, for the entire principality comprises but a few thousand square acres.

Theoretically autonomous, Monaco is in practice subservient to the rule of the French government. The famous casinos are owned by a syndicate which pays the reigning prince a substantial salary to tend their interests.

Prince Louis' decree was prompted by claims of Comte Armand de Chabrillon, who insists he is the rightful heir to what is one of the few paying royal jobs left in the world. His claims had been helped by Princess Charlotte's action in renouncing her rights of succession in favor of her son, Prince Rainier VII, when last February she divorced Prince Pierre de Polignac.

The right of succession depends on direct descent from the legitimate heir. Louis formally adopted his daughter as his legitimate heir to qualify her.

The Comte Chabrillon, who always had disputed her rights, redoubled his efforts to obtain the succession for himself when Princess Charlotte renounced her rights in a statement in which she said:

"After having given my family and my country two children who are the legitimate hope of the dynasty, I think I have done my duty sufficiently without being condemned for reasons of state to continue a marriage which is contrary to my inclinations."

The counte stirred up so much trouble that her father persuaded her to resume her place as the principality's future ruler and thus insure the eventual succession of her son.

Workers on Air Lines

Show Increase of 500

Washington.—Approximately 500 more persons were employed by the American operated airlines on July 1, 1933, than on the same date in 1932, according to the aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce. The 1933 total was 5,397 employees.

Of this number, 575 were pilots and 102 co-pilots, while 2,236 were mechanics, 1,013 other hangar and field personnel, and 1,381 office employees.

Gasoline consumed by scheduled airlines during the first half of 1933 totaled 12,589,547 gallons, the department noted, a substantial increase over the 1932 figures. Oil consumed by these planes also showed an increase. Jumping from 317,656 gallons for the first six months of 1932 to 470,184 gallons for the 1933 period.

All of these increases were made in spite of the fact that at the end of the period this year there were only 544 planes in operation as compared with 550 on July 1, 1932.

Professor George Warren, government gold authority, is said to be the poultry expert who made hens lay faster by installing electric lights in their pens. Maybe he could produce a strain of geese that would lay gold standard eggs.
